expansion of sectoral market penetration, but the impact is not significant. The overall market is still dominated by existing participants. The growth of new markets is driven by the increasing demand for high-quality, cost-effective solutions. The market is segmented into primary and secondary markets, with the primary market being more competitive due to the presence of leading players. The secondary market, on the other hand, is less competitive and more focused on niche segments.

In conclusion, the expansion of sectoral market penetration is expected to continue, driven by the increasing demand for high-quality, cost-effective solutions. The market is segmented into primary and secondary markets, with the primary market being more competitive due to the presence of leading players. The secondary market, on the other hand, is less competitive and more focused on niche segments.